I. Stylistic Conventions

A. Typeface

Main Text and Footnotes	The Public Contract Law Journal uses three different typefaces in footnote citations: Ordinary Roman, Italics, and SMALL CAPS in Times New Roman 12-point font. ALL CAPS are never used. Main text uses only ordinary roman and italics and does not contain citations. Main text is double-spaced (except for quotations exceeding fifty (50) words). Footnotes are single-spaced.
Title Page	The title of an article/Note should be centered and bold. The author's name should be centered but not bold. Insert an asterisk footnote after the author's name, and include the author's biographical information in the footnote.
Headings and Subheadings	Headings and subheadings, including the title, should be in Title Case, bold, and single-spaced. Headings and subheadings should end in a period only if the heading is a complete sentence. I. [tab] Main Heading [tab] A. [tab] Subheading [tab] [tab] 1. [tab] Subheading [tab] [tab] [tab] i. [tab] Subheading

Case Names: Use ordinary roman type for case names in full citations, except for procedural phrases, which are always italicized. R.2.1(a). Use italics for the short form of case citations. R.2.1(a). Italicize in-text references to case names, including the “v.” and all procedural phrases. R.2.2(a)(i), 2.2(b)(i).	Full citation: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- United States v. Winstar Corp., 518 U.S. 839 (1996).</li> </ul> Short citation: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- Winstar Corp., 518 U.S. at 840.</li> </ul> In-text reference: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- In United States v. Winstar Corp., . . .</li> </ul>
Books: Use SMALL CAPS for both authors and titles in citations. R.2.1(b).	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- ANTONIN SCALIA &amp; BRIAN A. GARNER, READING LAW: THE INTERPRETATION OF LEGAL TEXTS 101 (2012).</li> </ul>
Periodicals: Italicize article titles and use large and SMALL CAPS for periodical names. Authors’ names should appear in ordinary roman type. R.2.1(c).	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- John Bryan Warnock, Principled or Practical Responsibility: Sixty Years of Discussion, 41 PUB. CONT. L.J. 881, 881–82 (2012).</li> </ul>
Introductory Signals: Italicize all introductory signals when they appear within citation sentences or clauses. Do not, however, italicize a signal when it is used as a verb in an ordinary sentence. R.2.1(d). When signals are used as verbs, they should be spelled out (not abbreviated). “Cf.” becomes “compare” and “e.g.” becomes “for example.” Include material that would otherwise be included in an explanatory parenthetical as part of the sentence itself.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- See United States v. Winstar Corp., 518 U.S. 839 (1996) (discussing the unmistakability doctrine).</li> <li>- For a discussion of the unmistakability doctrine, see United States v. Winstar Corp., 518 U.S. 839 (1996).</li> </ul>
Explanatory Phrases: Italicize all explanatory phrases. Note, however, that phrases in related authority parentheticals, such as “(quoting . . .),” “(citing . . .),” and “(translating . . .)” are not italicized. R.2.1(e).	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- Jack F. Williams, Process and Prediction: A Return to a Fuzzy Model of Pretrial Detention, 79 MINN. L. REV. 325, 370 (1994) (citing United States v. Salerno, 794 F.2d 64, 71–73 (2d Cir. 1986), rev’d on other grounds, 481 U.S. 739 (1987)).</li> </ul>

Punctuation: Italicize commas, semicolons, and other punctuation marks only when they constitute part of the italicized material, and not when they are merely an element of the sentence or citation in which they appear. R.2.1(f).	There is no comma in “See id.” or “see also.” But, there are two commas in “See, e.g.,” and “But see, e.g.,” as per R.1.2(a), 2.1(f). The first comma in “See, e.g.,” and “But see, e.g.,” is always italicized, but the second comma is not. Footnote calls and quotation marks following in-text references to case names and other italicized material are not italicized. - The court said that the “best case is Tom v. Jerry.”<sup>6</sup>
Italicize words and phrases for emphasis, italicize foreign words and phrases (unless they have been incorporated into common English usage), and italicize words and phrases in other unique circumstances in accordance with R.7.	“Id.,” “supra,” and “infra” are always italicized. Procedural phrases in case names, such as “In re” or “ex rel.,” are always italicized. Note: “i.e.” (“that is”) connotes a different meaning than “e.g.” (“for example”), and neither are italicized when used in an ordinary sentence. But, “e.g.” is italicized when is used as a signal in a citation sentence or clause.

B. General Rules

Quotations R.5.	If a quotation has fifty (50) or more words, it should be indented without quotation marks. If a quotation has forty-nine (49) or fewer words, it should be enclosed in quotation marks but not otherwise set off from the main text. This also applies to footnotes.
When manipulating a direct quote, indicate any alteration with bracketed language. R.5.2.	When a letter is changed from upper to lower case in a quotation, enclose it in bracket. Substitute words/letters and other altered material in a direct quotation should also be bracketed. <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>- Meir Dan-Cohen, Sanctioning Corporations, 19 J.L. &amp; POL'Y 15, 18 (2010) (observing that criminal law “[c]onceiv[es] of individuals as the paradigmatic criminal offenders”).</li></ul> If the original quotation contains an alteration, include the following parenthetical in the citation: “(alteration in original).”
When manipulating a direct quote, indicate any omission with an ellipsis. R.5.3.	When omitting word(s) in the middle of the quote, insert an ellipsis. When omitting the end of quoted sentence, insert an ellipsis between the last word being quoted and the final punctuation of the quoted sentence. An ellipsis should never be used to begin a quotation. <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>- “National borders are less of a barrier [ . . . ] now than at almost any other time in history.”</li><li>- “National borders are less of a barrier to economic exchange now than at almost any other time [ . . . ].”</li><li>- NOT: “[ . . . ] national borders are less of a barrier to economic exchange now than at almost any other in history.”</li></ul>

Lists should be parallel and uniform.	Either all items in a list have articles, or they do not. Articles should be all indefinite or all definite. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- “the executive, the legislative, or the judicial branch”</li> </ul> Each element in the list should be the same. For example, the list should be comprised of noun-noun-noun, verb-verb-verb, or adjective-adjective-adjective constructions (or uniform variation thereof). Verbs should be the same voice, mood, and tense.
Avoid misplaced modifiers.	Example: “Magicians who miss gigs frequently are blacklisted.” In that sentence, it is unclear if “frequently” is modifying the verb “miss” (magicians who often miss gigs are blacklisted) or the verb “blacklisted” (magicians who miss gigs are often blacklisted). This sentence’s ambiguity could be remedied by attaching the modifier to the word or phrase it is modifying. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- “Magicians who frequently miss gigs are blacklisted.”</li> </ul> OR <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- “Magicians who miss gigs are frequently blacklisted.”</li> </ul>
Avoid splitting compound verb structures.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- “currently is defined”</li> <li>- NOT: “is currently defined”</li> </ul>
Avoid unnecessary prepositional phrases.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- “The current system of controls on U.S. exports . . . .”</li> <li>- Can be re-written as: “The current system of U.S. export controls . . . .”</li> </ul>

Use active verb constructions whenever possible; avoid passive voice and buried verbs (also called “nominalizations”). A “buried verb” means that the author is using a noun when a verb would suffice.	“The bill was introduced by the Senate.” <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>- Can be re-written as: “The Senate introduced the bill.”</li></ul> “The agency made a determination that . . . .” <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>- Can be re-written as: “The agency determined . . . .”</li></ul> “The process begins with an analysis of the agency’s needs.” <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>- Can be re re-written as: “First, the agency must analyze its needs.”</li></ul>

Acronyms and initialisms and should be introduced with a definite article only where appropriate.	Acronyms refer to terms based on the initial letters of their various elements and read as single words (NASA, AIDS, NARA). Initialisms refer to terms read as a series of letters (DoD, DoJ, NBA). Acronyms are never introduced with a definite article, whereas initialisms are introduced with a definite article if a definite article would be used when using the full name. For example: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- No definite article before: NASA, AIDS, NARA</li> <li>- Definite article before: the DoD, the DoJ, the NBA</li> </ul> Exception: “FAR” is an acronym, but it is commonly referred to as “the FAR.” The Public Contract Law Journal follows this common usage. But, when referring to a specific section of the FAR, such as FAR 2.101, there is no need to introduce the specific FAR provision with a definite article. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- Department of Defense = DoD (not DOD)</li> <li>- Department of Justice = DoJ (not DOJ)</li> </ul>
For ABA publications, see R.16.7.7.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- “Section of Public Contract Law”</li> <li>- NOT: “Public Contract Section”</li> </ul>

C. Abbreviations

Define abbreviations the first time they appear in the main text and the first time they appear in footnotes.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- The Department of Defense (DoD), the General Services Administration (GSA), and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) jointly issue the Federal Acquisition Regulation (FAR).<sup>24</sup></li> <li>- <sup>24</sup> The Federal Acquisition Regulation (FAR) provides that . . . .</li> </ul>
Case Names: For case names in citations, abbreviate all terms per T6 and T10. R.10.2.2. For in-text references to case names, only abbreviate widely known acronyms under R.6.1(b) and the following eight words (as long as the word does not begin a party's name): "&amp;"; "Ass'n"; "Bros."; "Co."; "Corp."; "Inc."; "Ltd."; and "No." R.10.2.1(c).	Citation: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- Am. Eng'g &amp; Sav. Ass'n v. Fla. Mortg. Bros.</li> </ul> In-text reference: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- In American Engineering &amp; Savings Ass'n v. Florida Mortgage Bros., . . . .</li> </ul>
Generally write "U.S." and "United States" instead of "American" or "America".	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- U.S. = adjective</li> <li>- United States = noun</li> </ul>
"Section" vs. §	Only use the section symbol (§): (1) in a citation clause or sentence, or (2) in an ordinary sentence if discussing part of U.S. Code or a federal regulation. Use "section" in all other instances. Always use "Section" at the beginning of a sentence. R.6(c), 12.10.
Months T12.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- Jan., Feb., Mar., Apr., May, June, July, Aug., Sept., Oct., Nov., Dec.</li> </ul>

Numbers

Write out numbers one through ninety-nine and use numerals for 100 and above.

- “Each year we enroll approximately 500 1L students.”
- “The court rejected the argument on two grounds.”

Use the percentage symbol (%) when numerals are used and the word “percent” when spelling out numbers.

- “Only thirty-two percent of all projects are successful.”

Exceptions:

Always write out numbers at the beginning of a sentence.

- “Fifteen years later, she finally reported the fraud.”

Numbers in a series must match. If one item in a series should be in numerals, use numerals for all the items.

- “The three beers have alcohol percentages of 4.7, 7.9, and 14.3.”

D. Capitalization

Quotations: For direct quotations, capitalize the first letter of the quote if it is formally introduced and is a full sentence. If the quote follows “that” or is only part of an ordinary sentence, do not capitalize the first letter. Use brackets to alter the initial letter of a quotation. R.5.2(a).	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- According to Professor Emerson, “The entire bill should have been scrapped.”</li> <li>- As he was arrested, the defendant shouted, “Give me my lawyer!”</li> <li>- The expert claimed that “the defendant could not have committed the crime.”</li> </ul>
Capitalize the following: R.8.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- “the Second Amendment”</li> <li>- “the Act” and “the Code” (when referring to a specific act)</li> <li>- “the Director” (when referring to a specific official)</li> <li>- “the State of New York”</li> </ul>
Do NOT capitalize the following: R.8.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- administration (Clinton administration)</li> <li>- cabinet</li> <li>- city hall</li> <li>- civil service</li> <li>- congressional</li> <li>- executive, legislative, or judicial branch</li> <li>- federal</li> <li>- federal government</li> <li>- post office</li> <li>- government</li> <li>- government official</li> <li>- healthcare</li> <li>- state</li> <li>- state or local government</li> <li>- section, article, title, part, and subpart (when referring to a part of a statute in-text)</li> </ul>

The following terms are capitalized, except when used as adjectives:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- “U.S. government”</li> <li>- “Contracting Officer”</li> <li>- “Cost Principle”</li> </ul>
Titles of officers are not capitalized unless accompanied by the officer’s name.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- The chairman of Gobias Industries Resigned.</li> <li>- Chairman Bluth resigned.</li> </ul>

E. Punctuation and Spacing

Spacing	The Public Contract Law Journal uses ONE space after a comma, semi-colon, colon, or parenthesis in main text and footnotes. TWO spaces are used after any period, exclamation mark, or question mark in main text and footnotes. In footnotes, insert ONE space between the footnote number and the beginning of the citation sentence or clause.
Lists: Semicolons should be used only when: (1) individual list items contain commas, or (2) the list is extremely long (i.e., more than 10 items). Otherwise, separate items by commas. Place a semicolon/comma between the penultimate and final item.	Example of list with semicolons: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- There are two ways to write: (1) with a pen or pencil, which is inexpensive; or (2) by computer and printer, which is more expensive but quick and neat.</li> </ul> Example of list with commas: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- She likes many colors, including: (1) blue; (2) purple; (3) magenta; and (4) orange.</li> </ul> The serial comma should be used for lists: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- [A], [B], and [C]</li> <li>- NOT: [A], [B] and [C]</li> </ul>
Numbered Lists	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- (1) [First item]; (2) [second item]; (3) [third item]; [and/or] (4) [fourth item].</li> </ul>

“En” Dash for Number Spans	An “en” dash always should be used for all spans of numbers. This applies when citing consecutive page numbers in a footnote. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- Id. at 320–21.</li> <li>- 2004–2005.</li> </ul>
“Em” Dash for Textual Material	An “em” dash is used in textual material, with no space before or after it. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- “He was a short man—albeit one with a dominant presence—who had a smile that draws you in.”</li> </ul>
Do not use apostrophes unless they serve a function or purpose.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- 1990s (not 1990’s)</li> </ul>
Do not punctuate company designations, even if the company’s formal title has punctuation.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- LLC (not L.L.C.)</li> <li>- FSB (not F.S.B.)</li> </ul>
Footnote calls, colons, and semicolons are always placed outside quotation marks.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- Correct order: comma/period, quotation mark(s), semicolon, footnote call, colon, hyphen.</li> </ul>
Explanatory Parentheticals: If the entire parenthetical is a quotation, the first letter of the quote is capitalized, and a period is placed inside the parentheses.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- Erie R.R. v. Tompkins, 304 U.S. 64 (1938) (holding that federal courts must apply states’ common law in diversity cases).</li> <li>- Erie R.R. v. Tompkins, 304 U.S. 64 (1938) (“There is no federal general common law”).</li> </ul>

II. Citation Conventions

A. General Rules

Order of Authorities: Within each signal, the order of authorities is: R.1.4. If one authority is considerably more helpful/authoritative than the other authorities, it should precede the others regardless of the suggested order of authorities.	Primary authorities: <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>- Constitutions</li><li>- Statutes</li><li>- Treaties and other international agreements</li><li>- Cases</li><li>- Legislative materials</li><li>- Administrative and executive materials (e.g., FAR)</li><li>- Resolutions, decisions, and regulations of intergovernmental organizations</li></ul> Secondary authorities: <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>- Uniform codes, model codes, and restatements</li><li>- Books, pamphlets, and shorter works in a collection of a single author's works</li><li>- Works in journals</li><li>- Student-written law review materials</li><li>- Magazine and newspaper articles</li><li>- Working papers</li><li>- Electronic sources, including Internet sources</li></ul>
Within a single citation clause or sentence, the order of parentheticals is: R.1.5(b). In citations to Internet sources, the "hereinafter" parenthetical should immediately follow the Perma.cc URL or, if there is one, the "last visited" parenthetical. Otherwise, it follows the date.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>- (date) [hereinafter short name] (en banc) (Lastname, J., concurring) (plurality opinion) (per curiam) (alteration in original) (emphasis added) (footnote omitted) (citations omitted) (quoting another source) (citing another source), http://www.domainname.com [Perma.cc] (explanatory parenthetical), prior or subsequent history.</li></ul>

Introductory Signals R.1.2.	Use no signal when the cited authority directly states the proposition, identifies the source of a quotation, or identifies an authority referred to in the text. R.1.2.(a). <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- Indicate support: “E.g.,” “Accord,” “See,” “See also,” (explanatory parenthetical recommended) “Cf.” (explanatory parenthetical recommended). R.1.2.(a).</li> <li>- Suggest comparison: “Compare . . . with . . .” (explanatory parenthetical recommended). R.1.2.(b).</li> <li>- Indicate contradiction: “Contra,” “But see,” “But cf.” (explanatory parenthetical recommended). R.1.2.(c).</li> <li>- Indicate background material: “See generally” (explanatory parenthetical recommended). R.1.2.(d).</li> </ul> Note: “See generally” is NOT used to cite “generally” to a source as a whole.

Explanatory Parentheticals

R.1.5

Explanatory parentheticals should conform to one of the following formats:

A clause beginning with a participle (providing a paraphrased explanation of the source's meaning)

- See also JULIANA CHEN, HOW I LEARNED TO STOP WORRYING AND LOVE THE BLUEBOOK 543 (1995) (discussing) the relative merits of the Bluebook's 16th and 17th edition rules for the use of “see”).

A noun or noun phrase should generally only be used when the source's general relevance has already been explained

- Trivia contestants typically become famous for their knowledge in one particular arcane specialty. See, e.g., Adam Frey, Record Flights of Birds, 18 J.L. SOC'Y 223 (1985) (chickens); Kevin S. Donohue, How Many Licks Does It Take to Get to the Center of a Tootsie Roll Pop?, 25 ATOM. ENERGY L.J. 164 (1989) (candy).

A quoted sentence from the source; a period is placed inside the parentheses.

- Cf. ROBERT WILLIAMS, STEPHEN PIEPGRASS: THE MAN, THE MYTH, THE LEGEND 46 (2000) (“Everything in this world improves: Swedish matches, operettas, locomotives, French wines, and human relations.”).

The word “same” or “similar” if the source is part of a string cite and the first source after the signal has a full parenthetical.

- See, e.g., Kristi O'Malley, You Make the World Taste Better, 90 HARV. L. REV. 627 (1988) (arguing that Diet Dr. Pepper tastes more like regular Dr. Pepper); Elissa Port, Be a Pepper, 92

	YALE L.J. 573 (1999) (same).
String together introductory signals of the same basic type (supportive, comparative, contradictory, or background) within one citation clause or sentence. Introductory signals of different types are grouped in different citation clauses or sentences. R.1.3.	- See Lizer v. Austero, 422 U.S. 207 (2005) (per curiam); see also Holt v. Holt, 23 F.2d 909 (S.D. Cal. 1982); cf. Estrella v. Gentiles, 765 U.S. 43 (2004) (upholding coeducational acting courses). But see Ice v. Sitwell, 343 U.S. 29 (2007) (holding that acting courses may be separated by gender with justifiable and rational purpose). See generally Annyong, supra note 22 (discussing the benefits of acting courses).
Citing a Footnote or Endnote: When citing to the footnote or endnote of a case, article, etc., follow R.3.2(b)–(c) .	- Id. at 46 n.52. - Id. at 2082 nn.133–34.
When citing a span of pages, eliminate numbers as stated in R.3.2 . Keep at least the last two digits.	- 1065–69 and 335–37 - NOT: 34–5
If a source uses star paging, drop the star in the reference to the ending page number, but keep the star in all references to nonconsecutive pages. R.3.2(a) .	- *3, *5, *10–11
Page numbers should always refer to the numbers that appear in the source that supports the Bluebook citation. Do not use “screen numbers” or create them yourself. R.18.2.2(g) . If citing material before pagination starts, indicate this parenthetically.	- U.S. GOV'T ACCOUNTABILITY OFF., GAO-27-714, CONTRACT MANAGEMENT: DOD VULNERABILITIES TO CONTRACTING FRAUD, WASTE, AND ABUSE (2006) [hereinafter GAO-27-714] (Highlights).

B. Short Citation Forms

“Id.” R.4.1.	“Id.” or “id.” may be used in citation sentences and clauses for any kind of authority except internal cross-references. Use “Id.” or “id.” only when citing the immediately preceding authority if the immediately preceding footnote contains only ONE authority. There should always be a period after the use of an “Id.” or “id.” and that period should always be italicized.
“Supra” and “Hereinafter” R.4.2(a), 4.2(b).	“Supra” may be used after an authority has been cited previously, unless “id.” is appropriate.
